Essential Strategies for Doing Business with China

Presented by David Carley

Over the last 20 years, David has made over 75 trips to China and built dozens of business and entrepreneurial relationships. A cross-cultural expert, David has been connecting vendors in China with potential partners in the U.S. and Europe. He and his team of Guest Speakers will provide the global expertise you need in order to engage your business with one of the world's largest economies.

(David has a Master of Arts in Organizational Leadership from Williamson College.)

Opportunity in the Cultural Divide

It's easy to go down the street to the local bank and conduct business. The same is so with your customers and vendors. But, what if that business partner were on the other side of the world? As one of the fastest growing world economies, China presents a wealth of opportunities for US businesses. But with those opportunities come challenges. There are differences in politics and culture, not to mention the language barrier. But there's no reason to miss out on what could be the best next move for your company.
